

Have you met Makeen Energy? Let us introduce you to our new mother company

When Kosan Crisplant was acquired by the Saudi AI-Ayuni Investment and Contracting Company (AAIC) in the summer of 2015, a company named Makeen Energy was founded under the wings of AAIC. The purpose of founding Makeen Energy was to create a world-leading union within the energy business that aims to provide expert energy solutions in a broader sense across the globe. Hence, Makeen Energy became the mother company of the three companies: Kosan Crisplant, Siraga and SADELMI Power. Together, they form one powerful energy coalition representing LPG, LNG, power and trading.

The skills of the three companies center around the core that is Makeen Energy: service, project management, engineering and equipment.

The mission statement of the new energy union is to deliver integrated, tailor-made energy solutions that make it possible for customers to excel at what they do and help them move their business forward.

Makeen Energy knows that access to safe, clean and affordable energy is crucial to people and societies everywhere. By applying expert knowledge, experience and engineering skills to create innovative, value-adding solutions, Makeen Energy takes part in making that energy available in a safe and sustainable way.

Kosan Crisplant backs WLPGA and AEGPL's decision to relocate congress to Florence

Kosan Crisplant once again extends its full support to the 29th World LPG Forum and 2016 AEGPL Congress by participating in the exhibition in Italy from 15-17 November 2016.

Earlier this summer, we had to cancel our participation in Istanbul due to safety concerns. But since it was decided to relocate the exhibition from Istanbul to Florence, Italy, we are now pleased to announce once again that we will partake in the exhibition. We look forward to seeing all of our partners and customers at the venue.

Please join us in booths
