Marking the 10th anniversary for Glocalgaz, KC Cameroon: Admirable goals turned into a prosperous business

This January ten years ago, our South African department, KC Cameroon, created its own trade mark, Glocalgaz, that set out to bottle and distribute LPG from the Ngeme filling facility in Limbe to the Cameroonian market. With noble intentions and a can-do spirit backed by funding for the project, this enterprise has made it through its first decade of business. Don't miss the story of its development through the past ten years of starting-up, overcoming obstacles and succeeding in a challenging market.

Maintenance is key to sustaining your profit

Even the best products don't last if they are not kept. Small errors creep in and eat away your profit little by little, so in order for your equipment to shine year after year, there are some maintenance routines to carry out. Whether you want to check and maintain your equipment yourself or you want Kosan Crisplant to take on the task of keeping your filling plant in perfect condition, you can prolong the life of your equipment by several years thereby reducing costs for repairs and put off repurchasing.

Curious about what you can do yourself to keep your equipment running as efficiently as possible? Check out the article "6 profit-eating flaws in your filling system" or learn about Kosan Crisplant's tailor-made service agreements that range from a simple annual inspection visit to fully outsourced KC Facility Service.
